Partner RLA, ASLA - OLIN

David ultimately integrated his passion for art and his interest in the natural world through landscape architecture. His extensive background in fine art allows him to sensitively express OLIN's philosophy of blending art and science to transform social and environmental systems. Current projects include New York University Strategic Planning Initiative and Plummer Park in Los Angeles.

michael.blier

Design Critic in Landscape Architecture Department of Landscape Architecture at Rhode Island School of Design

Michael began his own alternative practice in 1996, creating a strong collaborative studio environment which maintains and relies upon an open exchange of ideas, a clear understanding of site, and a desire to explore innovative materials and technologies in the landscape. Landworks Studio, Inc. strives for creative, formally strong, and functional responses to specific conditions of a place. Many of his current projects are seeking to achieve very high LEED Certification and are primarily urban in nature.
